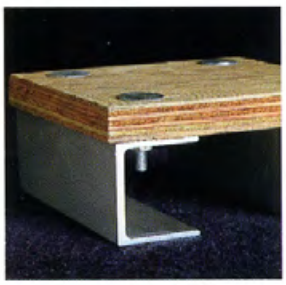
Trouble-Free Bolted Deck Construction

Bolts secure Suncruiser's deck firmly to cross members and have more holding power than the self-tapping screws used by many competitors. Bolted deck construction in combination with pressure treated wood gives you the strongest, longest lasting deck possible.



Long Lasting Pressure Treated Wood Used Throughout

To alleviate the common problem of rotting deck and furniture wood, Suncruiser wood is pressure treated, impregnated with special chemical preservatives that provide long lasting, insoluble, locked-in protection. Suncruiser's limited lifetime warranty protects you further. See your dealer for full details.

Limited Lifetime Deck Warranty

No-Smudge Anodized Rails

Anodizing keeps aluminum rails and trim looking like new. Suncruiser provides the most resistant coating available, permanently bonded to the aluminum, for preventing corrosion and smudging.

Bright Stainless Steel Hardware

All bolts, washers, screws and brackets are made of stainless steel to help prevent corrosion and keep your boat looking great.

Rigid Cross Channels

Heavy-duty marine aluminum cross channels of high-grade 6061 alloy are a full .170" thick. Selected Suncruiser models also have three 1/4" thick stern cross channels to absorb motor mount/engine vibration.

Reliable Evinrude and Johnson Power

A luxury pontoon should be set in motion by equally high-quality power. That's why we continue to choose Evinrude® and Johnson® outboards matched with OMC SysteMatched™ Parts & Accessories instruments, cables and controls for all of our standard packages and options. They're simply the best in the business for reliability, performance and service support.

In fact, every Evinrude and Johnson outboard is backed up by over 5,000 servicing dealers nationwide. So you're never far away from help should you need it.

Suncruiser also gives you a higher horsepower engine, up to 25% more than the competition, for better performance, less noise and a comfortable top cruising speed while you "throttle back" and save. You're boat is more valuable from the day you buy it through the day you sell it.

With more outboard convenience, dependability and horsepower than any other brand, a Suncruiser pontoon gives you greater total value!
